Sitting Pretty

The humble stool gets a sharp, sleek makeover.

US fashion designer Hillary Taymour - the creative mind behind boutique brand Collina Strada - has reimagined the stool at her new design and consultancy studio, Social+Studies. Object E (US$3,400, RM14,523) is angular, architectural and irresistibly chic. It's custom-made in New York City, and comes with a Carrara, Nero Marquina or onyx marble top and back. No guest of yours will be able to resist taking a seat. www.andsocialstudies.com

Map It Out

Orlebar Brown revels in its taste for adventure.

Calling all explorers - for practical yet beautifully tailored adventure-wear, look no further than Orlebar Brown and Gieves

& Hawkes' collaborative capsule collection, which promises to put your fashion prowess on the map. The ready-to-wear range features desert boots, a safari jacket and even a pith helmet. Its charming Francis shirt (£195, RM1,188), detailed with motifs inspired by Scottish explorer David Livingstone's meticulous hand-drawn maps, will take you from jungle expedition to beach bar in the space of a sunset. ### Spring Flings

Kille Enna's aroma extracts put the joy back into drinking water.

Here's how to bring out the best in a glass of spring water, according to Danish chef and cookbook author, Kille Enna: spritz the inside of a glass with 15 puffs of her Ginger/Rosemary From Uganda Organic Aroma (€18, RM544), and breathe in its light, peppery scent of caramelised honey and green, resinous leaves. Fill your glass with spring or well water and enjoy it as a fragrant cordial, letting the invigorating, hand-filtered blend of aroma extracts stir your senses.
